Ke Speaks to Legionnaires

AYS NATION I GREATEST ANGER EVER

New York (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that, because of Soviet "nation today stands in a peril more than at any time in history," he called for a clear, strong message to the Russians from the American government.

We must tell the Soviets with finality that never shall we content until the tidal mud aggressive communism has receded within its own borders. Eisenhower's remarks were contained in the written text of a speech prepared for delivery to the American Legion National Convention.

He general, a Legionnaire, flew New York from Denver last night, and the New York speech is designed to step up his campaign as the Republican candidate for the presidency.

His speech was billed as non-political, but it contained several passages that appeared to refer, directly, to some of the charges Republicans are making against the Truman administration.

Eisenhower's aides said he had been working on the speech for more than two weeks. They said he does not believe the Russians are ready, now, to kick off a third world war.

"We still have time," he said, "to outline a program designed to present counter-measures to Soviet movement. They are:

1. Creating a security force with such offensive impact that the massive potential of their will haunt the Kremlin with the threat of punishment to be visited on Russia should it violate peace.
2. Greater co-operative unity in every nation in the free world it is prepared to stand with us, work with us, build with us, for a security of all of us."
3. A warning to Russia that the United States will "never recognize the slightest permanence in Russia's position in Eastern Europe and Asia."

The speech was entirely devoted to an examination of the threat to the United States, how it came about, and the methods used by the Russians. In that framework, Eisenhower found the opportunity to touch on some points that have been political arguments for the publicans.

He referred several times to infiltration of Communists into American government.

He referred to waste and extravagance, and said they are a result of fear and hysteria.

Reaction to Stevenson Stand On Control of the Nation's Off-Shore Oil Lands Studied

Flying Pastor, Native Of Tidououte, Is Dead

Wheaton, Md. (AP)—The "flying pastor" of Barnesville, Md., who commuted to his church there by airplane from Wheaton, died at his home of a heart ailment.

He was the Rev. William Francis Shoup, a 62-year-old native of Tidououte, Pa. A licensed pilot, he was chaplain of the Frederick, Md., unit of the Civil Air Patrol.

He held pastorates at Alden, Pa., in Adams, N. Y., and in Liberty, N. Y., before coming to Maryland.

$1,300,000 In Tax Credits To Be Paid To Dealers In Oleo

Harrisburg (AP)—The Commonwealth was expected today to easily absorb a $1,300,000 dent in its pocketbook as a result of a court decision granting tax credits to oleomargarine retailers.

John A. McKinney, assistant budget secretary, said there should be "no serious difficulty" financially in making the tax credits.

"Comparatively, that's a rather small figure so it should be easily absorbed," he told a newsman.

McKinney emphasized, however, that no actual cash payments will be made by the state since the court decision applies only to credits on taxes owing the commonwealth.

He recalled that the 1951 legislature refused to accept a budget office recommendation of a multi-million dollar cut.

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson returned to his campaign planning today while his aides watched closely the reaction to his stand against complete state control of the nation's off-shore oil lands.

The Democratic presidential nominee braved the political wrath of Texas and other states with tideland riches by announcing he sided with President Truman in his veto of a bill to give the states quit-claim title to the tidelands.

But, in his statement Saturday, Stevenson added that since there is a "legislative stalemate" he thinks some solution should be found to protect the interests of both the federal government and the states.

He had the comfort of support in this stand from his running mate, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama. He turned from this problem today to concentrate on plans for his visit to New York City and New Jersey in mid-week and his Labor Day speech in Detroit next Monday formally launching his drive for the presidency.

He will address the American Legion Convention Wednesday in the first of a two-day series of speeches and conferences.

This morning he is scheduled to talk with Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, about the Detroit speech, which is being sponsored jointly by the CIO and AFL.

Other political developments: Vincent Hallinan, Progressive Party candidate for President, called for an immediate "cease-fire" in Korea. At a San Francisco rally last night he said both the Democratic and Republican parties have been captured by big business in a prison term for contempt of court during the Harry Bridges trial.

Sen. Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat, told newsmen in San Francisco that conservative Republicans and Democrats may form a third party if Stevenson and Eisenhower fail to affirm a policy of "strong Americanism."

MONOPOLY IS DENIED BY OIL COMPANIES

Washington (AP)—Five big American oil companies have an invitation to balance the official record with their replies to government charges that they joined in a virtual monopoly of the Western world's oil trade.

Most of them already have entered unofficial denials.

The invitation for formal answers came from Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, Democratic nominee for vice president, in his role as chairman of the Senate small business subcommittee.

It resulted from release of edited portions of a critical and controversial report on an international oil cartel, kept secret for more than a year after its completion by the Federal Trade Commission.

The report charged that the five American oil companies joined two huge foreign corporations in an arrangement designed to reap rich profits for themselves and collaborators from major oil production centers and markets of the non-Communist world.

Listed as principals in the alleged global oil cartel are these American firms: Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, the Texas Co., Socony-Vacuum and Gulf Oil.

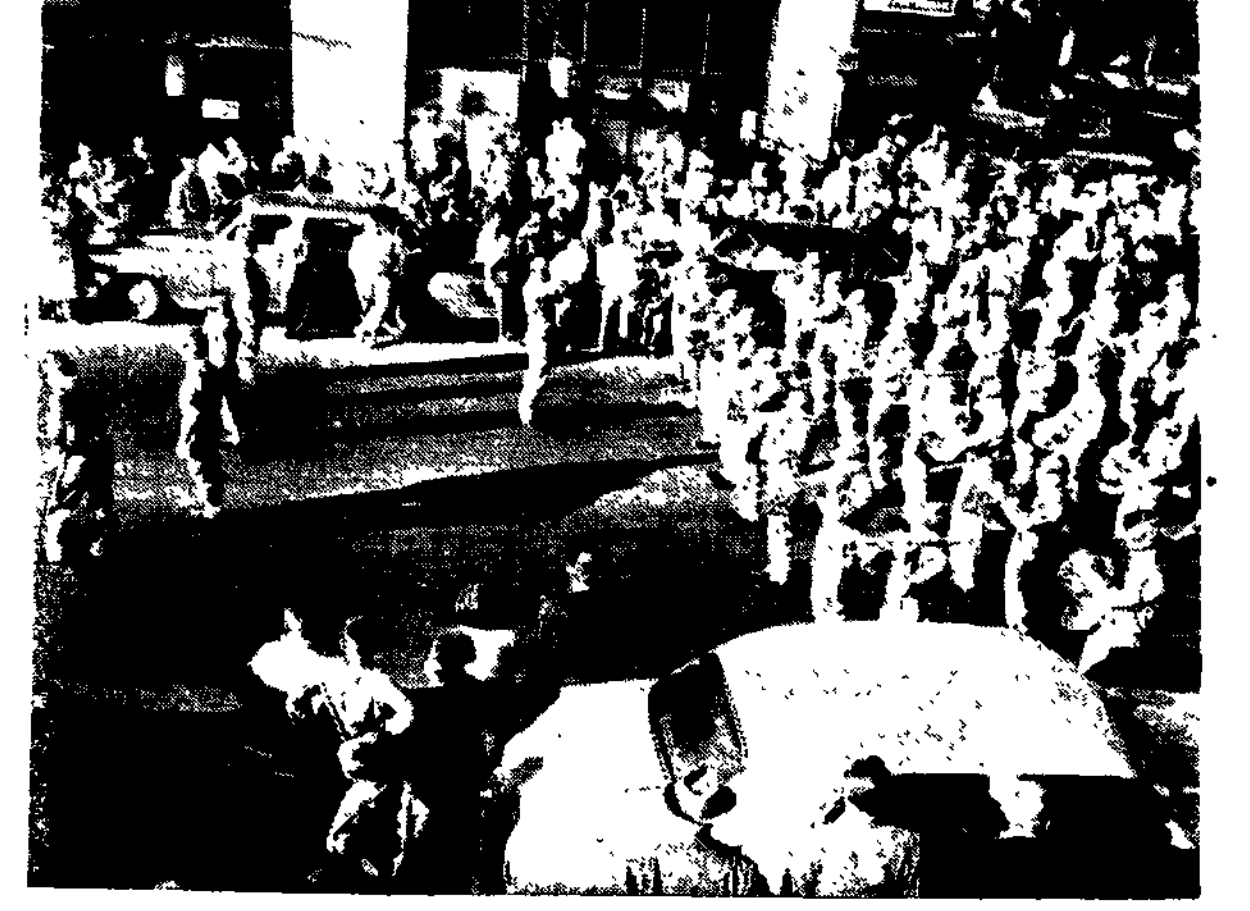

The foreign corporations named are Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., a British company, and Royal-Dutch Shell, owned by British and Dutch interests.

Whatever success the Junior Chamber of Commerce anticipated in bringing the famous Dixie Military Band to Warren was transcended far beyond all expectations.

The band, composed of picked and talented young musicians from the North and the South, won its way into Warren's heart within a few hours after its arrival here. On the other hand, the boys' best compliment was "Wish we could make this town our home base!" Chief Warrant Officer Daniel Miller, leader of the band, told the immense audience at War Memorial Field: "Never, in its 25,000 miles of travel around the United States, has this band been as cordially received or as well cared for!"

Nation's Longest Steel Controversy Officially Ended

Pittsburgh (AP)—The nation's longest steel dispute is officially ended.

U. S. Steel Corp., biggest producer in the industry, went along with other major steel companies in reaching complete accord with the CIO United Steelworkers on a new contract.

Announcement of the agreement came during the weekend a few hours after Crucible Steel Co. of America signed a formal pact with the union.

Big steel employs about 170,000 USW members in its far-flung operations. Crucible has 15,000 workers at plants in Pittsburgh and Midland, Pa., Syracuse, N. Y., East Liverpool, O., and Harrison, N. J.

Both firms had resumed work under terms of an interim agreement which ended the industry-wide steel strike July 28, sending 600,000 union members back to their jobs after 54 days of idleness.

Conneaut Lake Is Scene of Drowning After Boat Capsizes

Meadville, (AP)—A 35-year-old woman drowned in Conneaut Lake yesterday when a 16-foot motorboat capsized and sank. Seven persons were rescued.

The victim was Mrs. William Guttau of Cleveland. Her body was recovered in 20 feet of water after grappling hooks lifted the boat under which she had been pinned.

Rescuers in motorboats sped to the scene immediately and picked up the others who had been thrown clear. They are Joseph Hanan of Tarentum and his two sons, David, 10, and Michael, 8; Mark Kirkpatrick of Rocky River, near Cleveland; and E. O. Long of Cleveland; and his 13-year-old Jean Long.

The craft went down about 150 yards offshore. Cause of the mishap was not immediately determined. Mrs. Conwell said the boat was "going along fine when it slowed down and the first thing I knew I was in the water."

The group was vacationing at the lake. Long was identified as operator and owner of the boat.

Bakersfield Quake Reported One Of Worst In History

Bakersfield, Calif. (AP)—This devastated city of 50,000 worked today to clear away the debris and plan for reconstruction of buildings that were damaged or ruined by the worst earthquake in Bakersfield history last Friday.

With a toll of two dead, 32 injured and millions in property damage the city council met in emergency session yesterday to consider the many disaster problems.

City officials said it is still impossible to give an accurate estimate of property damage but preliminary estimates started at 20 million dollars. Inspections indicate that more than 100 buildings were seriously damaged.

At Pasadena, the California Institute of Technology reported that a succession of light quakes, after-shocks of the July 21 quake which wrecked nearby Tehachapi, still are being recorded on its seismograph and all of them appear to center in Kern County and the Bakersfield area.

Later today, rescuers in the Breconshire Hills of Wales tunneled through nine feet of fallen rock and pulled out two Boy Scouts and their injured scoutmaster imprisoned 150 feet down in a cave yesterday. All three were rushed to a hospital and the scoutmaster, his legs crushed by the fall, was believed in a serious condition.

AN INTERIM AGREEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Maintenance men will return on the second shift at 3:30 p. m. today at Struthers-Wells, idle by a strike since June 2, to ready the big plant for the resumption of actual work on Tuesday.

It was announced early this afternoon that a partial agreement had been reached between Struthers-Wells officials and members of Local 1328, International Association of Machinists, which came close to an actual settlement of differences. Final settlement will be the result of continued negotiations, it was said by a Struthers-Wells spokesman.

The company's latest offer was accepted during a union meeting held this morning at St. Joseph's school hall.

With the maintenance crews readying the plant for work tomorrow, partial production will be resumed when the 3:30 shift returns to work on Tuesday, with the full operation to start at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

It was stated today that the men were given an increase of 15 cents per hour, with "fringe benefits" as well. Struthers-Wells payroll had amounted to approximately $30,000 prior to the early June strike, and the settlement comes as good news all over Warren.

Asked concerning large orders which the company has received, a spokesman would not elaborate this afternoon other than to say "we have a large backlog of business which will assure continuous operation."

Army Chief Terms Report Over-Critical

Washington (AP)—The Chief of Army Engineers today termed "over-critical" a scorching Senate report accusing him and other top military men of confusion and waste in the hurry-up building of U. S. air bases in North Africa.

The committee urged Secretary of the Army Pace to "take appropriate action" against Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, the engineers' chief.

Nearby Editor Reports Seeing Strange Light

Titusville, (AP)—This community's residents picked up the Titusville Herald today and read: "Editor sees 'saucer' in sky; it's strange force."

Frank S. Holowach, managing editor of the town's morning paper, reported he saw a "bright, weird light" in the sky and "felt strange force" pulling him.

Holowach said he observed these phenomena while driving to this northwestern Pennsylvania community from Edinboro, near Erie, early yesterday.

50 Rescued After Plane Falls In Sea

Trapani, Sicily (AP)—A crippled four-engine British airliner plunged into the Mediterranean early today off this West Sicilian port but fishing boats saved 50 of the 57 persons reported aboard and recovered three bodies in a dramatic night-time rescue.

In London, the plane's operators said the plane carried 51 passengers, including four babies, and a crew of six. All were British.

British planes from Malta, Italian aircraft from nearby airfields and Italian naval craft from Trapani scanned the disaster scene about three miles offshore this morning for the missing persons.

Identified by Trapani Port Commandant Arnaldo Taddei as one of the plane's two hostesses and three passengers.

COMMERCE SECRETARY SPREADS GOOD NEWS

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer says that prices of consumer goods probably won't increase much the rest of this year, but suggests the long-term trend still may be upward.

"Major price changes are not indicated for the balance of this year," said Sawyer, summing up results of a survey by the department on the effects of the 56-day steel strike that ended July 28.

Despite the $5.20 a ton steel price increase that went along with the settlement, the survey showed many businessmen plan to absorb all or part of the higher metal cost rather than try to pass it along to the public.

The possibility of higher prices in the more distant future, he indicated, depends on whether a general round of wage and price boosts is now beginning or ending.

Tight Censorship On Extortion Plot

Pittsburgh (AP)—The FBI clamped a tight censorship today on its investigation of an extortion plot that threatened the life of home run hitter Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Other sources said a driver for the Peoples Cab Co., of Pittsburgh was being questioned in connection with the plot.

In a threatening letter received Thursday, Kiner was told to put $2,200 in small bills under the front seat of a Peoples taxi and abandon the cab in front of nearby Ambridge High School. He was told when he got into the cab to ask, "What's the fare to Ambridge?"

Local Man Named Director of State Young Republicans

Samuel F. Bonavita, North Warren, was one of 11 directors elected at the Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican Clubs biennial convention held in Harrisburg over last weekend. Bonavita, a member of the local board of directors, was one of five Warren County YR's in attendance at the affair.

Throughout the convention the Republicans appealed to the youth of Pennsylvania for support in the November 4 general election, as top GOP leaders proclaimed that youth is the key to the outcome of the present presidential campaign.

One of the resolutions urged to the 1953 General Assembly by the Young Republicans was the lowering of voting age in the Commonwealth from 21 to 18.

In a key luncheon address on Saturday, Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) said, "The Democrats pulled the rug out from under the youth of America" by creating "a prosperity based on war contracts and blood". The other outstanding address of the convention was presented by Rev. William Alexander, Okla., chaplain, Republican National committee.

The young party members will be gathering again on September 4th, when the 113-member state committee meets in Philadelphia and when YR's from the commonwealth and surrounding states will meet in Convention Hall to hear Dwight D. Eisenhower give his opening campaign address to the youth.

During the convention election Enoch Thomas, a 33-year-old Wilkes-Barre attorney, was unanimously elected state chairman of the Young Republican Federation succeeding Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert Kunzig, Philadelphia.

Other new officers are vice chairman, Peggy O'Kelly, Harrisburg; national committeeman, H. Clifton McWilliams, Johnstown; national committeewoman, D. Jane Staley, Lancaster; secretary, Robert Murrell, Sharon; assistant secretary, Ann White, Uniontown; treasurer, Duane Jennings, Pittsburgh; and assistant treasurer, Jean Ward, Irwin.

Thomas Morris, Bradford, McKean County, was also elected along with Bonavita to the board. Making up the remainder of the Warren delegation at Harrisburg were Charles Tranter, local chairman and past state board member, Dave Levine, board member, and Earl Abel and Allen Anderson, both alternates.

Brook Club Star Refuses Movie Roles

Bradford, Pa.—Wally Griffin, who opened at the Brook Club in Bradford this week is a handsome young man who would like to be a movie star but unless he can sing in pictures, he wants no part of Hollywood. It is typical of this Detroit born suave stylist-pianist who graduated from college as a pharmacist and then gave up this career to join his fraternity brother, the late Eddy Duchin, as soloist with his orchestra.

When he entered the Army during World War II as a private, he kept singing and entertaining G.I.'s all over. During his 4½ years in service, he found time to win the bronze star and rise to the rank of Captain.

After the war his fame had spread so far and wide, New York and Hollywood clamored for him. He turned down supporting roles with such stars as Betty Hutton, Doris Day and others — because they wanted him to play character roles but Wally wanted to sing.

He's on his way now to top ranking as a singing humorist. And the Brook Club in Bradford will present him for a limited engagement starting this evening.

Dentist Says Water in Some Areas Naturally Has Fluoride

Dr. V. H. McAlpin, recently-appointed dental clinician of Warren High School and president of the Warren County Dental Society, says the most recent report on reduction of tooth decay among children at Newburgh, N. Y., should be of special interest in Warren since it was accomplished through addition of fluoride to the water supply. Fluoridation of Warren water has been proposed to the Warren Borough Council.

"In some areas of the country, the water naturally contains fluoride," the doctor says. "After about forty years of study by research dentists on the effect of these fluorine-bearing waters on teeth and on the body generally, it was established that such waters were harmless to the body and reduced tooth decay by about two-thirds compared with the results of drinking fluoride-free waters."

"Eight years ago dental authorities decided to set up four demonstration areas to show that similar reductions in tooth decay of children could be accomplished by the addition of fluoride to water that did not contain it naturally."

Communities selected were Grand Rapids, Mich., Southbury, Conn., Brantford, Ont., and Newburgh.

The local dentist pointed out that on August 10, the New York State Health Commissioner reported that from 1944 through the middle of 1952 dental decay among elementary school pupils in Newburgh, N. Y., dropped 47 percent compared with children in Kingston, N. Y., 30 miles away, where no fluoride had been added to the water.

Among the children who had been given fluoridated water since birth, the drop in tooth decay was even greater. It was reduced by two-thirds.

Careful examinations during the Kingston-Newburgh study reveal no harmful effects from drinking fluoridated water, the New York State Commissioner reported. He also said that fourteen New York communities with a population of 1,290,884 planned to start adding fluoride to their water supplies.

Dr. McAlpin explained that one of the means of establishing the fact that there was no health risk in drinking water containing fluorine was a long study conducted by the Wisconsin Department of Health. Studies were made of the causes of mortality in Green Bay, which naturally has 2½ parts of fluorine per million parts of water; and in Sheboygan, which has practically none. The comparison left no grounds for belief that Green Bay folks die any sooner or from different causes or are more or less healthy than people of Sheboygan.

The Warren dentist pointed out that the Pennsylvania Department of Health, which has approved the adding of fluoride to water supplies deficient in it, has also set up requirements for operation and control so that the additions will be uniform throughout the state.

Again going back to the fortunate communities with water containing natural fluorine, it was found that in those having one part fluorine per million parts of water, no mottled teeth occurred. This amount was then specified by the Board of Health as the required proportion to be used in this state.

Fluorine is added to water by a feeding machine equipped with a metering device, and all the engineering and construction of such a system is inspected by the State Board of Health and is operated under a permit from that Board.

"In all matters, I feel, that we should search for basic principles,"

Sixth Producer On Carter Hill Drilled In By Penn'a Gas

Corry Journal: Drillers under contract to the Pennsylvania Gas Company Friday afternoon brought in their sixth successful well on Carter Hill—a producer pouring out 600,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

This report was confirmed by an official of the utility who said the well will be capped off and turned into the lines this winter.

The drilling rig chewed into the white Medina sand at 4,493 feet Friday and continued on for nine feet when the natural fuel was struck.

In view of this success, the PGC official said plans are being made to put down a fifth well but the exact location has not yet been definitely decided.

Quered with reference to the flow of oil which was hit while drillers were putting down the well, the official said the "black gold" was of small quantity and petered out as the drilling continued and has now been shut off behind the well casing.

While utility officials have declined to give any estimate as to the combined output of the six producers, the latest is termed an "average" well. The smallest is known to have an output in the neighborhood of 300,000 cubic feet daily.

Those who have followed drilling operations on the hilltop five miles northwest of the city are of the opinion that the utility has hit a large gas pocket in that section. PGC officials have confirmed reports that each new well brought in does not cause the output of the others to diminish.

A decision on where the 11th hole will be drilled is expected to be disclosed within the next few days. The well brought in yesterday is located on the C. J. Foillett farm.

Assault on the Pocketbook May Be Stepped Up in Future

New York (AP)—You get a break in one direction. Then you get slapped down from another. That's the story of the rising cost of living.

And the assault on the pocketbook may be stepped up in the future by sniping from several directions that have been quiet of late.

The family shopper finds the price of some meats a little easier to pay. But eggs go up, and so do fruits, vegetables and dairy products. So the family food budget ends up by being a more painful dinner-table topic than it was while back.

Sure, you get a break on clothing prices, which are lower than they were a year ago.

But whatever you save there is more than wiped out by rising costs in other lines.

Rents continue their slow advance in many places. Doctor and hospital bills are higher. Auto repairs pay more for insurance.

The price of coal, coke and fuel oil is higher in many places. And John L. Lewis' negotiations with the coal mine owners seems to precast a further rise in the price of coal.

All of these things add up, little by little, to raise the over-all cost of living.

Some more of the same is in sight.

Apparel prices are running well below a year ago. But the price tide has already turned in many of the raw materials involved. Raw wool started up again last spring after its drop to pre-Korean levels. The price of clothing will be lower this fall, because it is made of wool bought at the lower price. But next year the higher price of wool may set the price of suits.

Rayon and acetate yarns are advancing in price. Many cotton fabrics are, too. It may take months, but sooner or later that is due to hit the retail store level. House furnishings are lower than they were, with bargains to be had in electrical appliances and in household fabrics.

But this week carpet makers are advancing their prices, after months of lowering them. Bed sheet prices are advancing at the mills. Appliance makers are wondering if they can raise price to make up for the rising cost of metals.

Some 1,800 fabricators and manufacturers have asked the Office of Price Administration for higher ceiling prices because of the recent price hikes in steel, aluminum and copper.

And OPS plans to let users of metals pass along to consumers this increased materials cost. Some OPS officials think that for the nation as a whole the price tags might go by nearly one billion dollars a year.

The meat industry thinks that this fall may see lower prices on beef—but possibly higher on pork. Eggs, fruit, vegetables and dairy produce may follow seasonal ups and downs. Prospects are still good for a large grain harvest. And the family pocketbook may get some help from the quarter.

But chances are that services—the fees, fares and rates you pay—may go still higher. And rising costs of materials and labor may send many manufactured goods higher.

One way or the other, that take-home pay will continue to melt away.

Workers and Their Families Now Have Greater Protection

Workers and their families now have greater financial protection under social security than ever before, according to Paul W. Borneman, assistant manager of the Jamestown Social Security office.

Beginning with the month of September, retired workers 65 or over now receiving old-age insurance benefits will get more money. Monthly checks to survivors of most insured workers who have died will also be increased. These larger monthly checks are the result of the 1952 amendments to the social security law enacted on July 18, 1952.

Asked just how much these increases will amount to in dollars and cents for workers and their families now receiving old-age and survivors insurance benefits, Borneman said that the amount of the increase will vary, but that the new law provides generally for a 12 1/2% increase over the present payments. Most people now receiving old-age insurance payments will get about $6 a month more; some will get more, some less.

These increases will be made automatically and will be included in the September checks which will be sent out at the regular mailing early in October.

Of particular interest to workers over 65 who do not retire completely is the fact that under the new law a person receiving old-age insurance benefits can earn as much as $75 in a month in work covered by social security and still receive his monthly check. This will take effect in September. Until September, the retired worker may not accept his monthly check for any month in which such earnings are over $50. Persons over 75 may, as before, receive their monthly checks regardless of how much they earn.

Those persons age 75 or over who are already receiving payments based on covered earnings beginning in 1937 may have their benefits figured under the new formula, based only on earnings after 1950, if they have had a year and a half of covered work after 1950. This will usually make higher payments possible.

How to Get Fired

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
A Newsfeatures Writer

The time comes when thousands of young men and women, after taking a final summer vacation, are about to descend, tanned and brimming with health, into that vast arena called the employment market.

Almost to a man and a woman they will be seeking positions—as opposed to jobs—and times couldn't be more propitious. One understands that the country is enjoying boom-like prosperity and that in many fields the demand for employees far exceeds the supply.

Therefore, golden opportunity awaits almost any youngster with enough training or talent to get by. This is a time when the employee can pick his employer—and it won't last forever, so employees better make hay.

In the old days when the situation was reversed, young people were usually given solid job-hunting advice which included, first, instruction always to tell the prospective boss what contribution the applicant could make to the hiring organization. Counsel was also given to dress neatly, be modest, not talk too much, act like salary was a minor consideration.

As a result of talking to a number of harried employers, discussing Life with a double handful of young hopefuls just embarking on the career road and reading the "help wanted" advertisements, which these days paint jobs in the bright colors which used to be reserved for all-expense Caribbean cruises, I am prepared to enunciate some revised rules for the accepting of employment.

First, give the prospective employer no quarter. Let him know from the outset that you are the boss and make it clear exactly what you expect from the job. Five day week, pension, insurance, month's vacation from the first year, as much sick leave as necessary, all holidays including Michaelmas and St. Swithin's Day, two-hour lunch period and any other special privileges you can think of.

Be frank. Tell him you're willing to start for practically nothing—say, $75 a week—particularly as your shorthand is weak and you're interested in gaining experience, provided he will give you an opportunity to look around and decide what really interests you. Make certain you will be allowed to do "creative work." (I tried to find out what "creative work" is because the young people talk about it such a lot and the best I could discover was that it was any work which involved little or no supervision or work in which the employee could make his own rules.)

Feel free to offer some suggestions for improving the business, even on the first interview, and let the employer know that if you elect to stay in the position for a period, you expect rapid advancement and commensurate salary increases.

Test the employer's liberality of spirit. If you are a girl, dress in a cocktail dress, wear flashy earrings, chew gum and address him informally. If he goes along, chances are you'll have no trouble once you've consented to work for him. Find out if he's fussy about spelling, punctuation and other unnecessary, outmoded things. You don't want to work for a fuddy-duddy.

If you're hired after this, make the most of your opportunity. Chances are long that he'll dispense with your services at the very first opportunity, and this will give you even more experience in the long run. The main thing to remember today is that you, by consenting to hang around his establishment from 9:30 to 4:30, are actually doing him a favor. After all, youth must be served.

AWARDS FOR SUPERIOR DRIVERS

Somewhere recently we read about a small airplane darting down out of the sky to a spot a particular motorist tooling down the highway. At the next town the motorist was stopped by the police. The driver's apprehension changed to bewildered astonishment when the cops pinned a medal on him. It was for careful driving.

The plane was one used by the state police to patrol the highways. After watching the motorist in question drive along for several miles, obeying all the rules and driving in a mannerly way, the plane police radioed to their headquarters in the next town that this guy deserved a medal.

They've been doing it for some time, now, and the results are reported fine.

This strikes us as one of the sharpest, smartest approaches we've heard of to a problem we wish we'd never heard of—the mass killing on our highways.

For one thing, the airplane gimmick is healthily positive. We have too many restrictive "don'ts" in our traffic regulations—don't turn left, don't go over 30, don't turn off the bridge or you'll drop in the Quahosik River.

But instead of more "don'ts", here's a police force that says, in effect, you did a smart job of driving today, and here's a medal to prove it.

That sort of psychology seems from where we're sitting to be one successful antidote to our dangerous lack of driving manners—the attitude that the smart guy is the one who breaks the rules and gets away with it.

And that goes back to the fact that somewhere along the line we've acquired a whole set of false values regarding our conduct while in the driver's seat.

Everyone knows too well the kind of person who is as gentle and considerate as he can be until he gets behind the wheel of his car. Then something comes over him. His jaws clench, his eyes narrow, his hands grip the wheel until the knuckles are white. And woe betide the driver who crosses his path.

His ordinary good manners completely desert him as he darts dangerously through holes in the traffic line, forces other cars out of their paths, blows his horn, and in general becomes a 160-horsepower bully.

It would probably be oversimplifying to say this too-general failing is all the result of trying to compensate for a feeling of social inadequacy. That may be part of it, but there seems to be more.

Somhow we've gotten sidetracked into thinking that traffic laws are something it's smart to beat—like betting on the horses and winning, or not paying your county tax.

It's that attitude which must be changed if we hope to save some of the more than 30,000 lives which are lost in traffic accidents each year. Just saying "don't" isn't enough. That already has been proved.

So why not try a switch to the positive—a system of awards for good driving? And let's be a little dramatic and original in our thinking and planning on the subject. The cops in the airplane is good for a starter. Let's go on from there.

The temperature was pretty low at War Memorial Field Friday evening, but the warmth of the reception given by the thousands of enthusiastic music lovers and Warren citizens generally more than offset the bracing air. It was an event that will never be forgotten by any person in attendance.

The Jaycees and others responsible for the visit of the Dixie Band in Warren must have a feeling of genuine satisfaction for having had a part in a project that brought so much real pleasure and so many thrilling experiences to residents of the area.

The series of accidents in the area over the weekend should serve as a warning to local residents planning motor trips during the coming holiday weekend.

This is the week to complete plans for getting the kiddies prepared for the return to school Wednesday of next week.

A Political Achilles Heel

OH, BOY! WHAT A CHANCE TO PROVE MY SKILL!

THE NOT SO SOLID SOUTH

Here And There

One of the interesting sights to be observed while driving to Edinboro and Cambridge Springs is the Game Commission's pheasant rearing project in that vicinity, where the motorist may observe thousands of pheasants in the pens and coops on each side of the highway. Which reminds us The Game Commission's pheasant rearing project outside the state farms is 20 years old this year and it is interesting to note how the project has been expanded over this period. In 1933 the commission shipped a few thousand young ringnecks to sportsmen's organizations to rear to maturity. These were birds in excess of the number the state farms could raise to liberating age with their facilities. The project grew steadily until in 1950 about 166,000 day-old ring-neck chicks were distributed for rearing outside the pheasant farms. Last year the number increased to more than 225,000 and this year the total is almost 228,400, the largest number yet.

Terse, Tart and Timely: The Lewis Caterers had a busy week-end serving at least four big picnics including the Warren Elks at Oakview, and Cooper-Bessmer at Armico Park Saturday, and the Johnsonburg Elks and Warren Eagles Sunday. . . The Dixie Band was generous with its serenades during the parade Friday evening, saluting the American Flag at the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, as well as the Geraci-mos Store and the Times-Mirror. . . We were told Saturday evening, by one of the officers who should know whereof he speaks, that the promotion of Nick Geraci-mos to sergeant from corporal was the first time since the band was called to duty that such advancement has been made. . . Pfo. James M. Pringle, whose singing delighted the large audience at War Memorial Field as well as at the American Legion later in the evening is a well known concert and opera vocalist, the proud father of a five-months old son whose mother is a lovely red-haired woman. . . Lieut. Sidney Gunter was present in his capacity of band manager, but what was not told us is that he is a famous Hill Billy composer and record artist, just ask for records by Hard-rock Gunter. . . Notice how the leaves have started falling? . . . The latching sure was out for the boys in gray Friday evening, with most of the clubs having a full quota as well as such popular spots such as Oakview, The White House and Marconi Outing club. . . Belated birthday greeting is extended our old friend and progressive citizen Fred A. Lesser, who was 38 years old last Friday, and looking almost as spry as ever.

Defense Secretary Lovett Debunks 'Flap' on NATO

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—On the door of the Pentagon office of Frank C. Nash, special assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett for International Security Affairs, there is a new gadget. It's a "Flap Indicator."

"Flap," to the uninitiated, is a perfectly good Air Force term that is roughly equivalent to "snafu." When people go around flapping their wings and talking big on subjects they know nothing about, that's Flap. When nobody knows what he's doing or why, that's Flap. When the confusion is completely utter, that's Flap. Hot air is Flap. Propaganda is Flap.

For the last few days the pointer on the indicator has been set at Condition Green, which is Full Flap.

Though it cannot be said so officially, the apparent reason is the large amount of Flap being leaked by British and French official sources in London and Paris.

THE nature of this Flap is that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is all ready to fall apart. The 50-division goal for the NATO army, set at Lisbon last February, cannot possibly be met. Britain will be unable to meet her military commitments and will have to stretch out her rearmament effort over four years instead of three.

The Flap from France is considered even worse. The story coming from Paris is that unless the French government gets $600 million worth of defense orders from the United States, the French government will be bankrupt. The Indo-China war will have to be abandoned. Furthermore, Paris sources indicate that the United States must guarantee French government financial stability for the next three years.

So much for the Flap.

As to whether NATO will make its 1952 goals, Secretary Lovett admits frankly that he doesn't know and he can't tell until the annual reviews are presented to the next NATO council meeting. This will be held in Paris, probably in December.

At the Lisbon conference last February, the 50-division land army goal for Europe was set as a nice round number. Twenty-five of these divisions were to be ready divisions and 25 reserve divisions.

ACTUALLY, the number of divisions may be 53 by the end of this calendar year. If there is any "shortfall" in meeting this goal, it will be in the percentage of readiness of some of the reserve divisions. Delays may be caused by a variety of factors—not one. When the Lisbon goals were set last February, they allowed for some possible slippage. But they did not anticipate the U. S. steel strike nor necessary design alterations in some of the newest U. S. arms.

Abroad, there has been increasing belief that Soviet Russia would not attack. Secretary Lovett comments here that the restoration of power to resist has had something to do with this.

There have been increasing economic and financial problems in Europe. Lovett characterizes these as "the normal occupational hazard of anyone who has anything to do with government." And while he expresses sympathy for the French, he adds that "the U. S. cannot be held responsible for the French debt."

On the charge that the shortfall in Europe is due to the failure of the U. S. to make deliveries, the Secretary comments: "I do not think the slippage in U. S. deliveries has retarded the readiness of the combat training of a single unit in Europe."

And that's no Flap.

★ RUTH MILLETT ★ A Husband Always Wins Out When Competing With Wife

A NEW YORK couple recently broke up their marriage over a card game. It happened like this, according to the wife's story: Her husband insisted that she play cards with him for "house money." When she started winning heavily from him she claims he "marked the deck." When a woman enters into competition with her husband the cards are usually marked. She may be able to show him up, but still she is not the winner. Because a man just isn't going to let his wife beat him at anything he considers important. To be sure that she doesn't, he can fall back on all kinds of unfair advantages. He'll drop out of the competition. Or he'll decide his wife is neglecting her responsibilities in order to pursue her career, or that she wants to become a big shot club woman, or whatever she is doing to overshadow him. SOMETIMES HE WILL START A TEARING-DOWN PROCESS OR he'll resort to ridicule and make it apparent that he likes women who make him feel important. So there's really no winning for the wife who turns herself into her husband's competition. The only winning game a wife can play is to be her husband's sustaining partner. If she is on his side the cards aren't marked against her. But let her oppose him and she'll find she is playing with a marked deck. She can holler "Unfair!" all she wants to but the fact remains that she can't win. So if you don't want the cards stacked against you, always be his partner—never his opponent. ## "Millionaire's Railroad" To Make Its Exit After 75 Years

Ligonier (AP)—The Ligonier Valley Railroad—more often referred to as the "Millionaire's Line"—makes its exit from the American transportation scene Aug. 31 after 75 years of service.

The railroad was built by Thomas Mellon, father of Andrew W. and Richard B. Mellon, in 1877 at a cost of $48,460. The 16 miles of track that run between Latrobe and Ligonier in Westmoreland County were laid in 60 days.

Since the final spike was driven with official fan fare and the Mellon family and friends climbed aboard for the first run, the train has made five trips daily.

The Ligonier Chamber of Commerce is seeing to it that the final run is properly observed. Model railroad fans and "last millers"—persons who make a hobby of attending such events—have been invited for the occasion.

The Chamber of Commerce has arranged for band music and speeches by officials of the company. There will be special arrangements for camera fans who want to record the historic event.

For many, though, the occasion will be a sad one. Of the 34 employees who operated one of the state's last privately owned railroads, nine have 30 or more years service.

Conductor P. D. Denny Piper has been collecting tickets for 45 years. Engineer Fred Isenup is next with 40 years' service.

The automobile plus Pennsylvania's vast network of modern highways has spelled doom for Thomas Mellon's dream.

Passenger cars once were jammed with picnickers and fun seekers heading for Idlewild Park, a popular resort four miles from Ligonier. The railroad also transported much of the coal mined in Ligonier Valley.

Now all of this is changed. Automobiles and trucks have taken over the duties and despite the low fare rate—30 cents a trip—the single passenger car that is booked to the gasoline powered engine is often empty.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has agreed to buy the tracks for $150,000. The roadbed will provide one of the lanes for the new Lincoln Highway. In brief the little railroad is being junked.

"I don't know what we will do," says Joseph P. Gochmour Jr., general manager. Gochmour has been with the railroad since 1921. Before that he spent 12 years with the Pennsylvania Railroad as a clerk.

One of the sad notes that must be recorded in the railroad's history is a tragic wreck of an excursion train loaded with passengers for Idlewild Park.

The passenger train collided with a coal train on the morning of July 5, 1912. Twenty-three persons—many of them children—were killed and 40 others were seriously injured.

For the final run the train will return to former glories—several passenger cars will be hooked on for the first time in a long while. The last run will start in Latrobe at 2:15 p. m. EST and end in Ligonier at 5 p. m.

Important Ruling On Sidewalk Snow Issued In Crawford

Meadville—Judge Herbert A. Mook in Common Pleas Court yesterday handed down an opinion and ruling which brings some degree of relief from worry to every property owner who labors to keep his sidewalk as free of snow as possible in the snowbelt of Northwestern Pennsylvania.

The court made absolute a rule for judgment notwithstanding the verdict sought by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Damico of Meadville, defendants in a suit brought against them by Samuel and Edna Biffano of Meadville. The case was concerned with injuries allegedly sustained by Mrs. Biffano in a fall on a snowy sidewalk on the Damicos' Water street property on January 7, 1948.

Mrs. Biffano had claimed the Damicos were negligent in failing to clear the sidewalk of ice and snow, causing her to slip and fall. She was awarded a $5,150 verdict in a court trial. But the defendants immediately filed for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, claiming there was not enough evidence to sustain her claim of their negligence and that she was contributorily negligent.

Judge Mook opined: "The court is convinced that the evidence in this case is insufficient to establish that a dangerous and unreasonable obstruction to travel existed upon the sidewalk of the defendants.

"To allow a recovery in such a case places every property owner in Northwestern Pennsylvania, whether he be a person conducting a business or living in a cottage by the side of the street too old to handle a snow shovel with agility, in imminent danger of losing his property.

"Here in the snow belt of Northwestern Pennsylvania only the most hardy and vigilant of our property owners can be sure that their sidewalks are free of snow 24 hours a day.

"Having reached this conclusion it is unnecessary to discuss the alleged contributory negligence of the plaintiff," the court concluded.

possible for the partners you usually get.

In the hand shown today, South was a very well known expert, but his partner was an equally well-known palooka. South could hardly afford to let the opponents play the hand at three clubs, (which they could have made), but it was foolish of him to experiment with a bid of three diamonds.

An expert North would have realized that the bid of three diamonds was only a tentative offer and not a firm commitment. South had already passed at two hearts, and was therefore sure to have some satisfactory holding in hearts.

South's only point in bidding the diamonds was to discover whether or not the diamonds were better than the hearts. North was expected to bid three hearts unless he had an excellent fit for diamonds.

Unfortunately, North knew nothing about such refinements. He had already bid his hearts and he didn't see how he could make a second bid on his miserable hand. If South's diamonds were so strong, North decided, let him play the hand where he evidently wanted to be.

The result at three diamonds was very sad indeed. West led the jack of spades, dummy covered with the king, and East won with the ace. East switched to clubs, giving his partner two tricks in that suit.

East over-ruffed dummy on the third round of clubs, cashed the queen of spades, and led a third spade. When South ruffed, West discarded his singleton heart instead of over-ruffing.

Having won his first trick rather late in life, South desperately led the king of diamonds in an attempt to draw trumps. East won with the ace of diamonds and led his last spade. South ruffed again and once more West discarded. South now laid down the queen of diamonds and West claimed the rest of the tricks, setting the contract six!

With this particular partner, whose game he knew quite well South should have bid three hearts instead of his very "delicate" three diamonds. North would have played the hand at three hearts, and would probably have gone down only one trick. If West went on to four clubs, he would be set. In either case, North and South would have been far better off.

ve Hospitalized fter Collision On ute 62 at Akeley

Five persons received hospital treatment, three of them being admitted, following a two-car head collision on Route 62 at the elevation curve late yesterday afternoon.
Admitted at the hospital were Lundmark, Akeley RD 2, sustained forehead lacerations requiring 8 sutures; Willis Laming, of Venturatown, with lacerations of the forehead, temple and in, requiring over 50 sutures; Victoria Corbran, 214 Center street, who received lacerations of forehead, right eye and right cheek, requiring extensive suturing.
Anderson, the most seriously injured, is reported in fair condition at the hospital this morning.
State police, who investigated, said that Lundmark was the driver of a southbound car which failed to make the curve and struck a other car, going north and operated by Anthony Corbran, of Warren. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cor-bran were taken to the hospital and were not admitted.
Mr. Corbran told police he and his family were en route to Jamestown to visit friends and relatives when the accident occurred about 4:30 p. m. Within a short time, a large crowd of passing motorists gathered at the scene and traffic was virtually at a standstill.
Earlier yesterday afternoon, at 3:30 p. m., state police were called to the scene of a three-car accident on Route 6. No one was injured.
Cars involved were operated by John J. Sell, Wheeling, W. Va.;
Robert C. Hockenberry, of Ridgely; and John R. Benton, of Liberty.
Freedom RD 1. Officers said all three were proceeding east when the accident occurred. The cars were involved in a pile-up, and one was killed and 15 others injured in a series of seven accidents. Killed was Fred Parrell, 36, of South Dayton, when his car struck another head-on near Forestville, Friday night.

Boosters Planning
Annual Ice Cream
Social And Concert

Friday, September 5, is a date in the fall calendar around which all school patrons and friends will want to mark a red circle, since that is the date designated by the Warren School Music Boosters Club as the occasion of its big ice cream social and band concert on the lawn of Beatty Junior High School.
The benefit social will be from 1:00 until 9:00 p. m. and the band concert will get under way at 7:30 o'clock, the young musicians playing from the steps of the school's main entrance on Third avenue.
It is suggested those who plan to attend the band concert should bring blankets and sit on the lawn during the concert, since chairs may not be available for all. In event of rain, the ice cream social and concert will be held inside Beatty school.
Tickets may be purchased for 25c each from members of the Warren High School band, choral groups or orchestra. Net proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used by the Music Boosters for payment on the balance owed for band uniforms and choir robes, the entire cost of which is being paid by the Boosters.
If the weather is favorable, it is probable an outdoor dance will be held on the back court of Beatty school immediately following the band concert. Those who purchased tickets for the ice cream social and concert will be admitted free to the dance.

Reminded To Enroll
Floyd W. Bathurst, principal of Warren High School, reminds that the Student body will number nearly 900 for the 1952-53 school year opening on Wednesday, September 3, and new students should enroll as early this week as possible.
The principal's office will be open daily from 9:00 until 12:00 and from 1:30 until 3:30 to make this registration possible.
Mr. Bathurst also announces at this time the allocation of home rooms for the new school term:
The 285 seniors will be seated in Home Rooms 201, 202, 203, 204, 206, 208, 217 and 218; the 325 juniors will occupy Rooms 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 216, 105, 107, and 114; Rooms 108, 109-A-B-C-D, 110, 111, 112, 113 will be occupied by sophomores.
Operating under the continuous session plan, the school day will be from 8:25 a. m. until 2:50 p. m.

GOOD PEACH CROP
John Phillips, a spokesman for the Erie County Horticultural Association, says that this year's peach crop is of the best quality seen in recent years. Mr. Phillips says the extraordinary amount of sunshine enjoyed in this area accounts for the fine quality of the fruit, and is responsible for the yellow ripening two weeks earlier than usual. "Due to the early season," says Mr. Phillips, "it is advised that the housewife can her peaches as early as possible." He adds that local peach varieties ripen in the following order: Golden Jubilee, Rochester, Hale Haven, South Haven and Elberta.

LOCAL POLIO VICTIM REPORTED DOING WELL
The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schneck, 121 Redwood street, were pleased and relieved today to learn that their little daughter, Jan, aged five, who was stricken with polio on Friday, is doing well in Bradford Hospital.
It has been determined by physicians that Jan's affliction is not severe and that there will be no residual effects. It is expected she will return home within two weeks and that a complete recovery can be gained through exercises and hydrotherapy at home.
When it was learned, late Friday afternoon, that the little girl had polio, she was taken to Bradford by Mr. Schneck, who reports that it was a busy day at the polio ward, six patients being admitted.
The Schnecks' young son, Jon, aged four, is in excellent health although under quarantine.

EXPENSIVE GOLFING
A golfer playing for only 10 cents on the first hole, and losing, then continuing to double the bet and lose on each hole, would be out $26,214.40 at the end of an 18-hole game.

SYMBOL OF WEALTH

once were regarded as a symbol of wealth and power. Tanning

OLD TIME PRICES
An 1888 edition of the "Warren Paraphrase" was being shown at police headquarters this morning by Patrolman Jerry Park. It was interesting to note food prices in the edition, advertisements offering sugar cured ham at 14c per pound; cured bacon and shoulders at 10c; salt for 90c per barrel; tea at 40c a pound; and Acme soap at fice of President Clifford Betts, at the Betts Machine Co. plant, Pennsylvania avenue west. All members of the following committees are reminded to be present: Inter-Club, House and Program. The event will be highlighted by a banquet to be served at the YWCA on the evening of September 3rd.

NUISANCE CALLS
The usual quota of nuisance calls for police over the week end included a call to Pennsylvania avenue, west, where a store owner reported a swindler was trying a fast game at his establishment. When officers arrived at the store, it was closed. A resident of Pennsylvania avenue, west, reported a sum of money lost or stolen.
The money was found in the home while police were answering the call. Another citizen, under the influence, called from West Fifth avenue, for a policeman. He got one and will spend the next five days in county jail on a disorderly conduct charge.

The FTC report, tracing a maze of corporations, subsidiaries, interlocking directorates and agreements, pictured the cartel as carrying up the world's reserves, supplies and markets for petroleum and fixing high prices.

Mrs. Eleanor Gillilan, who resides with Mrs. Edith Stone-

R. Sugarman, president of the organization will "extend greetings and felicitations in recognition of one whose 100-year span exemplifies healthful living."
Mrs. Gillilan was born

Dixie Band Thrills
Thousands With Perade and Concert Here

(From Page One)
had intended to pass through Jamestown instead but chose the Warren road purely by accident.
Shortly after passing the borough limits, he saw one of the familiar Confederate uniforms, stopped his car and questioned the young soldier, and was led at once to Lt.
Gunter, who was just emerging from Geracimos' restaurant. Mr.
David was so excited he could hardly talk, and after he had composed himself Lt. Gunter asked the former leader to be present at the concert. "The greatest thrill of a long and active life," declared Mr. David.
And still another thrilling surprise was in store when it was announced by Mr. Miller that he had decided to change the program completely. Whereupon he introduced his assistant, Nick Geracimos of Warren, and handed Nick a surprise when he announced that word had just been received of Nick's promotion from Corporal to Sergeant. He said he could not run the Band without Geracimos' assistance, told how valuable a man he is and paid the same sort of compliment to Pfc.
Edward A. Wood, also of Warren, whom he introduced.
Full credit for the entertainment of the Band goes to Co-Chairmen Alan Buerkle and Leon Christiansen and the members of their Jaycee committee: Bill Lundahl, Ross Ruhman, Bob Gorsuch, Jack Barr,
Ted Prodromou and Louie Chil-ment. Bringing the Band to Warren was the Jaycees' way of saying "Thank you" to Warren for its full support of the July 4 and circus projects this year, and that Warren appreciated the Band's appearance here was more than evident.
When the Band turned up before dawn, Saturday, for breakfast at the American Legion before departure for New York, the ladies of Salem EUB church came in from the kitchen and gave them a salute in singing "Good Morning Dear Soldiers, Good Morning to You." As the last note died away, the bandmen took it up and made the rafters ring with their response "Good Morning, Dear Ladies, Good Morning to YOU!" As the boys filed out to the buses with regretful goodbyes, Rev. Francis Fehman, pastor of the church, and the ladies gave them Godspeed for a safe journey to New York and a safe return to Camp Atterbury, Ind. Mrs. John Dahler, Sr., was in charge of the large committee from the Salem EUB Ladies' Aid. The food provided and the service rendered were perfection itself.
The Dixie Band was quartered at the YMCA while here, and the boys heartily thanked Dan Walton, general secretary, who returned from vacation to help entertain them. Besides thanking Dr. Wal-

Elks Defeat Jamestown and Lose to Kinzua Over Week-end

The Warren Elks split two games over the weekend, defeating the Jamestown All-Stars, 3-2, in a return game played at Municipal Stadium Saturday night, and then lost to Kinzua, 3-0, there on Sunday afternoon.

Good support and the two-hit pitching of Ken Thompson accounted for the local youngsters' second victory over the All-Stars. Thompson retired the first 13 men to face him.

The Elks' runs came as lone tallies in each of the last three innings, Jamestown making their effort in the ninth with two.

Lead-off man, Bob Harrington, again carried the big stick for the locals, blasting two of the Elks' five hits.

At Kinzua R. Peterson only gave up one hit in pitching his

Homers By Senerchia, Kiner Win For Bucs

Pittsburgh A.—Home runs by Ralph Kiner and Sonny Senerchia gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over the Boston Braves in the first game of a doubleheader yesterday. The Braves took the nightcap 5-3, aided by six Pirate errors.

Rookie Ron Necciai won his first major league victory in the opener. Kiner blasted his 28th round-tripper and Senerchia connected for his first major league home run. Lou Burdette went the distance for the Braves in the 10-inning nightcap, scattering eight Bucco hits.

Ludlow 'Cats Take Sunday Game From Westfield's Moose

A loosely played ball game, which went an 11-inning distance and saw five men toting the mound, resulted in an 8-7 victory for the Ludlow Wildcats over the Westfield Moose at Ludlow Park Sunday afternoon.

The winning run came in the bottom of the 11th when Mitta Espin hit a squeeze bunt that scored Jiggs Juban, who had doubled to start the inning and had gone to third on a wild pitch.

Phil Swanson started on the mound for the winners, but after allowing four runs to come in the fourth and two more in the fifth, Dean Whittaker took over the role. The latter was relieved by Ed Fragale, who was credited with the win in the eighth. Brown and Haskel shared the pitching for Westfield.

The Cats trailed 5-1 after five innings, but gradually shaved the margin away. In the sixth Whittaker slammed a double that scored two runs and Jerry Vesling came up with a three-run homer in the seventh.

Vesling and Jiggs Juban proved the key men in the Wildcats' order, each with three safeties. Bob Young had a similar number for the losers.

Fielding Is Praised As Yanks, Dodgers Retain First Place

By JOE REICHLER
Sports Writer

Know what's keeping the Yankees and Dodgers in first place? Pitching? Nope. Hitting? Nope. Okay, we'll tell you. It's the field. . . just plain old-fashioned defense.

Before the start of the season those who picked New York and Brooklyn to win the pennants predicted the Yankees would win on their pitching and the Dodgers would cop on their hitting.

Today, with fewer than 40 days to go, the Dodgers own a comfortable 8½-game bulge over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League race and the Yankees have a two-game edge on the Cleveland Indians in the American.

And it hasn't been the Dodger hitting nor the Yankee pitching. At present it doesn't appear that either club will have a 20-game winner this year. The Brooks trail the Cardinals in team hitting but they lead both leagues in team fielding.

By completing a double play yesterday in routing the Cardinals, 10-4, to snap St. Louis' eight-game winning streak, they broke a league record, completing a twin killing in their 18th consecutive game.

The Yankees trail Washington and the Chicago White Sox by one point in the American with a team fielding percentage of .979, but they are far and away in front

Through The Wind Tunnel

A letter to the Times-Mirror Sports desk from Jim Spence, sports editor, states that the Titusville Herald staff has grown very fond of Bob Peterson and also says he is doing a bang up job of reporting in his capacity as city editor. Bob, the son of Mrs. Alie C. Peterson, 104 S. South street, is a Warren High grad and is well known here and at Upsala College for his all around baseball ability.

A Bradford boy and Lock Haven State Teachers' College graduate, James N. Swanson, is the new varsity basketball coach at Randolph High School in Crawford County.

With the opening of school just around the corner, September 3 to be exact, teachers are already returning to Warren from summer vacations, school, etc. John Stachowiak, whose vacation was highlighted by a marriage, honeymoon in the Pokonos and six weeks at summer school at Penn State, hit town Friday. We were afraid he had forgotten his lovely wife, but she came in on the bus Sunday.

So many amusing incidents occurred as a result of the Dixie Band's visit to Warren, it is impossible to chronicle even half of them. At War Memorial Field, Friday night, we noted a couple carrying a play-pen to accommodate Junior during the concert. The best southern accent in the Band was possessed by Pfc. Phil McCarthy, USA, of Portland, Maine. Did you notice the new hair-dos and planned make-ups in the stores 'round town during their visit? Pretty enough any time, Warren girls outdid themselves. The counter waitresses in Kresge's were all adrift when Abigail sent two of the boys in to help them out at rush hour, and sure enough the soldiers went behind the counter and flung sodas. It was "Old Home Week" at Geracimos' too, and the Dixie Bandmen are likely to broadcast the news of Nick's and Ed Wood's nice home town all over Atterbury. One of the bandmen known as "Whitey" declared he'd be back here to spend his leave. Did you notice the young Rebel and the mascot dog? The boy was the adopted son of CWO Miller, leader of the band. We'll be watching the news from New York in order to hear about the Dixie Band leading the Alabama delegation in the parade this week. They will appear in Gettysburg, on the battlefield, after leaving New York and will play a concert in front of City-County Building, Pittsburgh, at 7:30 p. m. Friday, then back to Atterbury.

There were enough Bandmen to go around so that every spot in Warren had its quota. Many a group was taken home by local residents who said they were well entertained mutually.

With matters military in such an uncertain state, the less said at this time about a return engagement the better, but rest assured that Warren has already had an encouraging commitment from "the braid."

Harry Summers is a quiet, self-effacing fellow. But if anyone had a thrill out of the Dixie Band's in double plays in both leagues with 152.

They failed to complete a twin killing yesterday as they came from behind to nip the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, and pick up a full game on the Indians, who dropped a 16-inning 9-3 marathon to the Senators in Washington.

Two ninth-inning Giant errors gave Cincinnati two unearned runs and a 5-4 first game decision. The Giants managed to get a split in the doubleheader, winning the second game, halted at the end of seven innings by darkness, 6-3.

Boston's third-place Red Sox moved up to within four games of the Yankees, sweeping a pair from the St. Louis Browns, 2-1 in 10 innings and 12-1. Philadelphia's Athletics clung to fourth place by one percentage point, dividing a doubleheader with the White Sox. The A's came back to cop the second game, 5-1 after the White Sox had taken an 11-7 opening slugfest.

The Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs split a twin bill as did Pittsburgh and the Boston Braves. The Phils swamped the Cubs, 14-4 behind Russ Meyer after Warren Hacker had outpitched Robin Roberts for a 3-0 Chicago triumph. The Braves took a 10-inning 5-3 win after Ralph Kiner had hammered his 28th home run to give Pittsburgh's Ron Necciai his first major league victory in the opener, 4-3.

The Yankees erupted for four runs in the eighth after rookie Billy Hoelt had baffled them with five hits and no runs through seven innings to overcome a 2-0 deficit. A bases-loaded walk to pinch hitter Johnny Mize with two out followed by Irv Noren's pinch double that cleared the bases, gave Ed Lopat his sixth victory.

Marlin-Rockwell Takes Close Game From Ludlow Wildcats

A skein of seven victories was snapped for Keith Vesling at the State Hospital Saturday afternoon, when Jamestown Marlin-Rockwell nipped the Ludlow Wildcats, 3-2.

Although he fanned 13 of the men he faced, the Penn State ace gave up four safeties that cost the winning runs in the sixth. Lyle Parkhurst was the winning pitcher for the Rollers.

Hurst was the big sticker at the plate for the Jamestown nine, slamming out a triple and single in four trips.

Rookie Necciai Fans But One Batter In Debut, Is Satisfied

By JOE BRADIS

Pittsburgh A.—Rookie Ron Necciai fanned only one batter in his first major league victory but take it from the 20-year-old pitching phenomenon it's better than hurling a 27-strikeout, no-hitter in the minors.

"It sure feels good to get that first one," remarked the jubilant Pittsburgh Pirates' rookie after beating the Boston Braves, 4-3, yesterday at Forbes Field.

"Gosh, the guys really played ball for me. Catcher Clyde McCullough kept telling me: 'Take your time, kid, take your time. Don't get lazy, you've got 'em'."

"And look at Murry Dickson. He got the Graves out in the ninth to give me the victory. What a guy. He's always giving me pitching tips. What more could I ask?"

Dickson relieved Necciai in the ninth after the first Braves' batter, Sid Gordon, singled. The Braves notched one run in the final stanza, scoring on a single off Dickson, a long fly ball and an infield out.

Against the Braves, the six-foot-five Necciai gave up two runs, two walks, seven hits and hit one batter, a far cry from his sensational minor league no-hitter last May against Welsh, Va. All Necciai did that night for Bristol, Tenn., was strike out 27 batters.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

TWO EXTERIOR choices for one floor plan distinguish this "Young America House," design C-1 by Victor Civkin, 12 Ermine St., Fairfield, Conn. The only difference between the two facades involves slight changes in the windows. Two bedrooms and an extra bath are provided on the second floor. A barbecue fireplace on a rear garden terrace adjoins the living room fireplace. Architect Civkin designed this house with full basement for the General Electric Home Bureau, which is sponsoring 23 exhibit homes of this type in 11 states. Covering 1,100 square feet, without breezeway and garage, the complete house is planned for the $20,000 market, including land and complete electric kitchen and laundry equipment. # Baseboard Heating Systems Gain Favor

BY MR. FIX
(Distributed by NEA Service)

Home building, modernization and repair being at its height now, in the warmest days of summer it is far from incongruous to be thinking of heating systems.

Coming into high favor is baseboard heating, introduced just after World War II. It eliminates the standing radiator and provides an even heat from an unseen source, which extends the length of cold exterior walls at the baseboards.

Baseboard heating equipment can employ either forced circulation hot water or vapor heating systems, but manufacturers generally recommend forced hot water, because temperature control is more accurate.

This equipment can be installed to replace existing baseboards, and in some cases can be fastened on the face of existing baseboards, since it is particularly adaptable to home remodeling and modernization, as well as to building.

Manufacturers claim that temperature variance between floor and ceiling is maintained at less than three degrees, since the systems throw a blanket of rising heat over exterior walls and windows.

With baseboard heating systems, carpeting can be laid wall-to-wall and the baseboard enclosures may be painted to harmonize with the room's decor.

Many systems have heating elements of copper or steel pipe with steel, copper or aluminum fins attached to increase heat radiation from the pipe. This is faced with sheet steel topped with a molding.

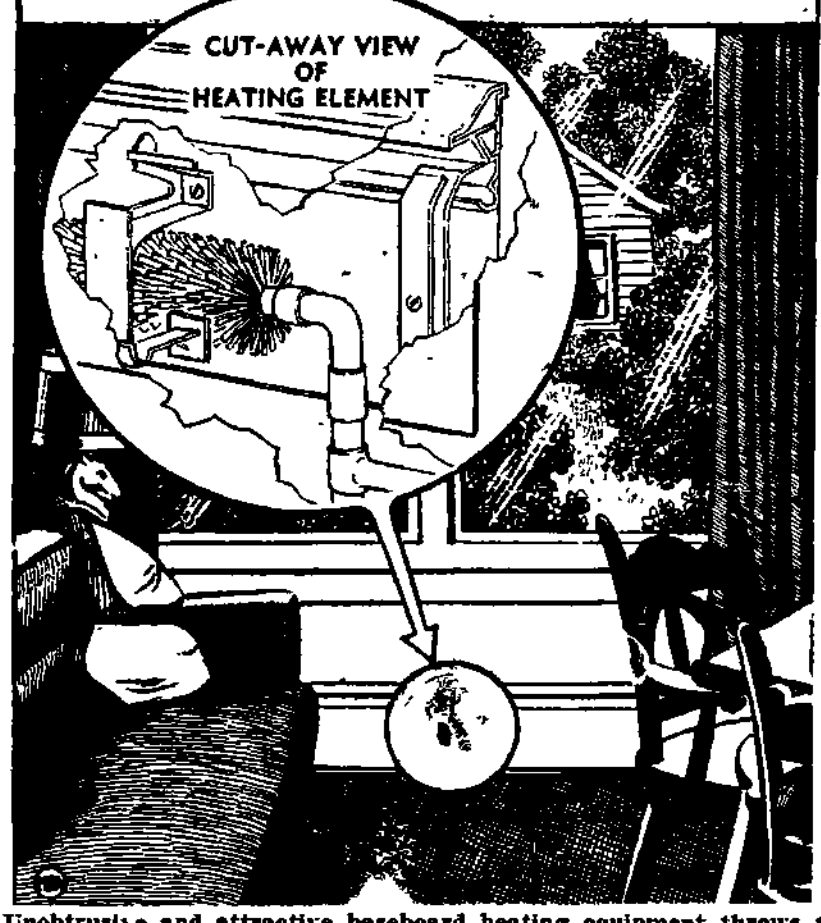

Other systems are of cast iron facings molded to resemble baseboards and the back finned, to heat rising air, or plain. Both types have openings at top and bottom for passage of air-circulated heat.

Installation costs vary, according to heating contractors, from $5 to $650 per lineal foot for baseboard modernization, depending on the amount of renovation work and labor rate in various localities.

The latest count shows that 24 manufacturers offer various designs of baseboard heating.

One manufacturer offers the following cost figures on two installations it made, complete with boiler and oil burner, "often an expense not required."

You Get GREATER VALUE for Your Dollar BECAUSE OF ADVERTISING

Because Advertising ... brings you news about better products you need ... tells you where to get what you want when you want it ... makes lower prices possible through mass production and mass selling

Yet picture how little all this costs

For instance, it costs less than 1/32 a dozen to advertise the big-name brand of oranges. Any other method of selling would cost the growers more and therefore raise the price. Otherwise they wouldn't use advertising.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, (P)--Because the Communists always want a fairly small, rigidly disciplined organization, not everyone in Russia is a member of the party. Out of a population of more than 200 million people, probably not more than 10 million are permitted to belong. The number may be smaller. Before he's admitted, a would-be member is screened. Party members must vouch for him. And after he's in his work and loyalty to the party are watched and examined.

But the Russian Communists, who set the style for Communists everywhere, protest they have a really democratic setup.

Theoretically, all party members are expected to argue sincerely on any issue the party is trying to decide. But, once the decision is made by majority vote, they must obey the party's will absolutely.

Actually, the decisions are made at the top by Stalin and his hand-picked lieutenants who form the Politburo, which runs the party. Since the party runs Russia, the Politburo runs the whole show.

But if the Politburo just kept on doing this indefinitely from within the Kremlin walls, without even pretending to let the party members think they have a say, it couldn't keep up the democratic fiction very long.

So Stalin and his friends decided long ago there should be a national congress every three years. But they got pretty careless about it. The last was held in 1939.

Yesterday announcement was made in Moscow that there'd be another congress, the first in 13 years, in October. Why now? The usual guessing game started in the Western capitals.

Stalin has never been considered a Confidential Charlie. So there will not necessarily be any connection between the real reasons for the congress and any reasons Stalin may give for calling it, before or after.

So the guesses will range from the most ominous and sinister Communist motives to a simple desire on Stalin's part to keep up democratic appearances or tighten the strings on party members getting careless.

The only amusing note in the Moscow announcement was the news that the Politburo will be abolished and replaced by a "Praesidium." The only possible effect this can have is the added difficulty of spelling Politburo under the new name.

"A Newspaper is the Greatest Buy in the World"

• BABSON SAID IT

"Too many readers accept their newspapers as a matter of course. Newspapers are, however, as important to their communities as are municipal conveniences and other services. Probably no single item would be missed more from our daily lives than our local newspaper.

"A newspaper is the greatest buy in the world. All newspapers, regardless of size, are highly educational. Unlike other great institutions of learning, however, they are not endowed and must be self-supporting. Naturally, what keeps a paper going is the advertising revenue. Everyone should help on this as a civic duty.

"Newspapers are vastly more important to retailers, manufacturers and the community itself than merely increasing sales. All kinds of civic and social organizations rely on free notices of their activities. We all have more of a stake in the business of advertising than we realize. Our papers not only give us the community news but the growth of our communities depends on the prosperity of our local newspapers.

"Successful manufacturers are carrying on a most sensible campaign of paid publicity with no chance now of getting their money back through immediate increased sales. I hope more local firms will take advantage of the opportunities to advertise which are afforded today. Yes, I am optimistic for advertising for those who stick to it 'rain or shine.' Sensible continuous advertising is the best investment there is."

HOW TO SHARE IN THE INCOME EARNED BY LARGE AMERICAN CORPORATIONS . . .

The large investment trust funds invest the money of their shareholders, for their benefit, in the bonds and stocks of large companies engaged in over 20 lines of business. The money is distributed among the securities of 70 or more large American corporations in order to spread any market risk which is always present because of changes in security prices. Hundreds of interest and dividend payments are received by the fund each year and distributions are paid to shareholders quarterly by check . . . hundreds of income payments are thus received but the shareholders receive them in four quarterly checks thus saving a great deal of bookkeeping and detail work.

A staff of professionally trained investment men select the investments and watch them. All the cash and securities of the fund belong to the shareholders and are held for their benefit by a large city bank. The objective of these funds is to provide an investment in a diversified group of securities which are selected for safety, income and growth. Quotations appear in most leading newspapers. Upon request the fund will repurchase its shares at the then prevailing net asset value.

Call at our office for additional information on any fund.

Hal Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE

New York P.—When Wilbur Peeble came home from work, his wife, Trellis Mae, met him in cold resentful silence.

Wilbur sighed and held his peace. He knew that whatever the matter was, he would hear about it later. And sure enough he did—after they had eaten and he was seated comfortably in his favorite chair, trying to read the sports page.

"I'll tell you what's wrong," Trellis Mae said suddenly. "You lied to me—that's what!"

"Lied to you?" replied Wilbur, wondering like any husband which he meant. "How? . . . When?"

"Remember when I wanted that fur coat last year? It was a wonderful bargain for $1,000," said Trellis Mae. "But you said no. We couldn't afford it."

"We couldn't then," said Wilbur sulkily, "and we can't now."

"How much did you make last year?" demanded his wife.

"I made $5,200 after paying taxes," said Wilbur. "And we saved $500. But if we had bought that $1,000 fur coat I'd be owing the $500 instead of having it in the bank for a rainy day."

Trellis Mae shook her head at that.

"Well I read in the newspaper that a government report showed the average American family earned $4,300 last year, but spent $4,700. If the average family can afford to spend $400 a year more than it earns, why can't we afford to spend $500 more than we earn? You earn more than the average man. Why should we be the one to fall behind?"

"But, honey," objected Wilbur. "We aren't falling behind. Can't you see we're better off. Instead of owing $500, we have $500."

"You mean the bank has the $500—and I don't have my fur coat," said Trellis Mae. "The more money you owe the better off you are. Anybody knows that."

"I don't see how you—" began Wilbur, uneasily.

"Well, take France," interrupted his wife. "Is France an average country or is it not?"

"Yes, but—"

"Never mind that. Who owes more—France or the United States?"

"The United States, of course. But—"

"Well, is the United States better off than France or not?" said Trellis Mae triumphantly. "Doesn't that prove the more you owe the better off you are? And pauAfoamercindobntion r rrf wouldn't we be better off, too, if I had that fur coat?"

Know How to Use Rapid-Drying, Durable Shellac

BY MR. FLX
Distributed by NEA Service
One of the least expensive of wood finishes, and one of the easiest to apply, is shellac.

Any exposed wood is subject to deterioration, but clean, bare wood can be given two quick coats of thin shellac that will protect it indefinitely, and bring out the wood's natural grain.

It is common practice to give floors, panelling and other woods two coats of rapid-drying, durable shellac in a single day.

However, proper thinning of shellac—a vital part of its correct application—is not commonly known among non-professionals.

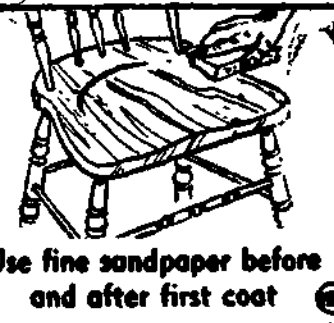

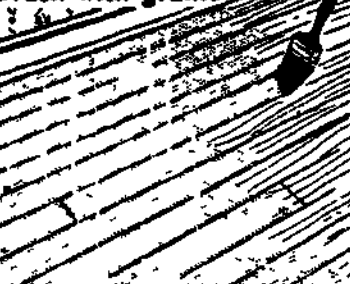

Shellac should seldom be used as it comes out of the can, but should be thinned with a high-grade denatured alcohol.

Most widely sold shellacs are called "five-pound cut" and "four-

For ordinary work use: 1 qt. SHELLAC + 1/2 pt. ALCOHOL

For very thin undercoat use: 1 qt. SHELLAC + 2 qts. ALCOHOL

Brush with grain

Use fine sandpaper before and after first coat pound cut." That means they consist of four or five pounds of shellac gum dissolved or "cut" to each gallon of pure alcohol.

But these mixtures should be thinned with denatured alcohol for practically all work. For instance, shellac on floors should be applied not heavier than in two-pound cut.

Here are instructions for converting shellac by thinning with alcohol:

Five-lb. cut to 3-lb. cut—1/2 pint alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 5-lb. cut to 2-lb. cut—1 quart alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 5-lb. cut to 1-lb. cut—2-3 gallon alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 3-lb. cut—1/2 pint alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 2-lb. cut—1/4 quart alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 1-lb. cut—2 quarts alcohol to 1 quart shellac.

To prepare furniture for shellac coats, remove the old finish with a paint or varnish remover, sponge thoroughly with turpentine to remove traces of the chemical and allow the wood to dry.

Smooth the surface with No. 00 steel wool, followed by No. 00 sandpaper, rubbing with the grain and wiping afterwards. Same treatment for new wood. Apply stain, if desired.

Then apply a thin coat of shellac, at least two-pound cut, working the liquid with the grain with a fine brush. Allow three hours for drying. Sandpaper the first coat lightly and dust it off. For the second coat use a two-pound cut, being careful not to overlap when brushing—flow shellacked sections together. For a final polish, hand rub the surface with a paste wax.

Badly worn wood can also be given a protective coating, using this same method.

Thorough sanding with steel wool or No. 1/4 sandpaper before finishing is necessary for new floors. Old floors should have previous finish removed by sanding machine. All traces of wax should be eliminated before applying shellac in two-pound cut.

Allow three hours' drying time between first two coats; overnight drying of the second, if a third coat is desired.

Shellac is known also as a paint or lacquer base and is recognized as an excellent undercoat for wax or varnish.
